

The certification logo is provided to each certified customer in electronic form after the successful completion of the certification process.

The format of the certification Logo is as follows:

The rules for the use of DROMON's logo are as follows:

- The right to use the certification logo is granted solely and exclusively for the procedures, facilities, holdings, organizational, and operational units that were audited with a positive result. It may not be used for any other purposes, such as for products. Certified customers may use the certification mark on communication media such as websites, brochures, envelopes, business cards, promotional materials, etc.
- The certification logo may only be used in the form defined by DROMON and must be distinguishable and easily recognizable. The company has no authority to make any changes to it, except for adjustments to its size.
- The certification logo may only be used in proximity to or alongside the name and/or logo of the company. It cannot be used on the company's products or services, nor in a way that may imply association with the product or service. DROMON does not allow calibration, testing, or analysis laboratories to use the certification mark on their tests or reports, as these are considered products in this context.
- The logo may only be used solely and exclusively by the company; its use cannot be transferred, sold, or granted to any third party without the prior written approval of DROMON.
- If the certification is withdrawn, the customer is no longer authorized to use the certification mark.
- The same applies if the company changes its name, legal form, company type, or other essential elements of its identity, or if it ceases to exist, even temporarily, and is later re-established with the same or different name, legal form, company type, or other essential elements. If deemed necessary, at DROMON's sole discretion, a new audit may be conducted at any time for the premises or unit to which the logo use license is transferred. The certificate and logo may be revoked at any time, in accordance with the terms outlined in these General Regulations.

- If the company owns other facilities, holdings, organizational, or operational units that have not been audited and certified, the use of the certification logo must not create any potential for misleading claims.
- The company is granted a non-transferable and non-exclusive right to use the certificate and certification logo, in accordance with the pre-established terms.

Logo Check

- The use of the certification logo is verified during each surveillance and recertification audit.
- Any instances of abuse are addressed immediately by the organization. Failure to correct the abuse will result in DROMON suspending the validity of the certificate. If the organization continues to disregard the provisions of this document, the certification will be withdrawn.
- For any information regarding the use of the certification mark or references to the certification, customers are encouraged to contact us by email at info@dromon.com
